Dr. Cronin's Death and that Unaccounted for $80,000.

Alexander Sullivan's Bank Account and Checks to Be Looked At.

The Clan-na-Gael's Steel-Clad Oaths May Help Shield the Assassins.

Renewed activity on the part of the Chicago authorities to fasten the responsibility for the murder of Dr. Cronin upon the members of the Clan-na-Gael triumvirate is particularly gratifying to the Eastern members of the

From the very first they have been convinced that the crime was instigated by Dr. Cronin's personal enemies in the West, and it is a well-known fact that Alexander Sulliven, the ex-President of the Land League, was among the most bitter of them.

The first step in the direction of clearing up the doubtful relations of Sullivan and a few of his friends towards the crime was the placing the leader under police surveillance. His every movement is watched still, and be is not for a single moment permitted to go out of sight of the detectives who are employed to shadow him.

The authorities are now investigating Deyoy's charges of embezzlement, which were supported and pressed by Dr. Cronin, against Sullivan and his two cronies, Michael Boland and D. C. Feely.

The funds belonged to the Clan-na-Gae Society and had been appropriated for the carrying out of the physical force campaign in Ireland. It amounted to about $100,000 in all, and was paid over to Sullivan by Patrick Egan while he was in exile in Paris, to enable the preparations for the campaign to be carried out in this country.

WHAT BECAME OF THE $82,000 ? WHAT BECAME OF THE $52,000?

It has already been discovered that Sullivan, who took charge of this large fund, only turned over $18,000 of it to the Can na-Gael, and what became of the other $82,000 has never been satisfactorily explained. This is what Dr. Cronin was working on for years, and he had, it is said, the complete proof that Sullivan and his clique had misappropriated the money, and that it had never been paid into the treasury of the Clan-na-Gael. WILL THE BANK BOOKS EXPLAIN IT?

As a result of the present investigation it has come out that this $82,000 was deposited by Sullivan in the Traders' Bank of Ch.cago. which not long ago went into bankruptey, and now an examination of the books is being made to discover what became of the money.

Dr. Cronin, it is said, made an examination just before his death, and by that means completed the proof which he lacked against Sullivan and his association of their dishonasty and crookedness. Now, Mortimer Beanlan, a friend of Dr. Cronin, who assisted him is, making this invastication of the roots. him in making this investigation of the books of the Traders' Bank comes forward and offers to submit proof, by means of copies of checks and drafts upon Sullivan's private account in the bank in question, that the money was all drawn out by him and never money was all drawn out by him and never accounted for.

What was done with it is still a mystery, for the checks show nothing, but it is claimed that it never went into the treasury of the Clanna-Gael, where it belonged, and the only evidence that it was not used for private purposes is the sworn statement of a witness who appeared before the Clanna-Gael Investigating Committee, of which Dr. Cronin was a member, that the money was bonestly was a member, that the money was honestly disposed of. Even he did not account for it any more definitely than this, and it was on the strength of this statement that the mathe strength of this statement that the majority of the Committee, who were friends or Sullivan, made a report in which the defendants were completely exonorated.

That Dr. Cronin emphatically dissented from this whitewashing operation is shown by the vigor of his minority report in which be finds the defendants guilty of all the charges made by Devoy, and his subsequent investigations enabled him, it is said, to fully substantiate their truth. ubstantiate their truth.

THE GRAND JURY MAY REVIEW IT. The probability is that this evidence will soon be submitted to the Grand Jury and that the most sensational developments will

In any case, with the suspicions which now rest upon Sullivan, and which are daily becoming stronger and stronger, it is thought to be impossible that the situation should remain much longer in the present condition. Now that the District-Attorney is in possess-sion of definite facts, it is believed that he will act with prompiness and energy, and that several important arrests must surely be the outcome of the investigation. THE IBON-BOUND OATHS.

The suspicion, which has also been alluded to in The Evenise World, that the machinery of the Clan-na-Gael, with its iron-bound oaths and secret methods, was employed by the conspirators to carry out their murderous designs against Dr. Cronin is daily gaining ground. At first this was hard to believe, for none of the reputable members of the organiza-tion could conceive that the authority of the order could be put to such uses, and although they were convinced that the assassim were employed by members of the order, the general opinion was that only two or three were concerned in the foul plot.

WHERE THE SECRET TRIAL WAS HELD. The discovery has been made, however, that the North Side camp, of Chicago, was in some degree interested in the conspiracy, and the suspicion is that the secret trial at which Dr. Cronin and others were condemned to death was held at the instance of this branch, and the proceedings controlled by Cronin's enemies were formal and regular and in accordance with the practices of the Order.

ALMOST SECURE FROM DETECTION.

The instigators of the conspiracy relied upon their influential position and prominence to ward off suspicion, and had not Crosin's body been discovered it is the general opinion that they would have been anabled to do this successfully. The steel-ribbed oath of their accomplices protected them from any squealing on the part of those who were hired to do the terrible work.

The fact that Dr. Cronin had evidence in his possession which would enable him not only to throw them down from their high places, but to put a good many of them inside the walls of a prison, is said to be reason enough for taking violent means to put him out of the way.

A well-known Irishman of this city said today: ALMOST SECURE FROM DETECTION.

day: I regard the evidence which is now be-"I regard the evidence which is now beginning to come out implicating the Chicago triangle' in this foul murder as most important, and it is only surprising to me how long this clique has been able to conceal its dishonesty and to cover up the evidences of its villainy. The peculiar secrecy and revolutionary methods of the Clan-na-Gael have no doubt contributed to this result; but, now that the facts are leaking out one by one, it would not be strange if the whole history of this organization was before long laid before the public.

THE PHENIX PARE MURDERS.

"The Phonix Park murders have always been a mystery, and if the truth were known, there is no doubt in my mind that the Clanus-Gael would be found to have played a very sortive part in that conspiracy.

"The same sort of desperadoes were employed to execute the sentence of the secret committee in that affair as in the case of Dr. Cronin, and there are always plenty of men to be found who will for a small reward become murderers and assassins, especially if there is any sentiment of patriotism connected with the act.

'In Dr. Cronin's case there is no doubt that the actual assassins were primed with the idea that he was a traitor to the Irish cause and a despicable spy, and that they were doing a noble work of patriotism to butcher him.

"Instead of that he was more of a patriot than any of them, and they were only carrying out the bloody revenue of a chique of their victum's personal enemies, who were themselves the victual traitors that the Irish cause has ever been cursed with. THE ACTUAL ASSASSINS. "As to the actual assassins, I do not be-lieve that any of them were Chicago men. They were ruffians who had been picked up somewhere in the East and were entirely unknown in the vicinity where the crime was committed. This was the safest way, as the constrators well knew, to screen them-selves as well as to prevent the discovery of all traces of the crime.

They protably all of them left Chicago as soon as the crime was executed, and it is only their accomplices who have been thus far discovered. Somebody made a mistake, or the disappearance of Dr. Cronin would still be one of the unsolved mysteries which are so numerous in the records of crime."

It is difficult to ray at present whether the appointments of Wallace and Tucker will be adhered to and re-amounced from the White House, but it is not by any means impossible, for it is understood that Gen. Wallace was invited to the White House yesterday to give his opinion on the propriety of Tucker's appointment, and that the General cordially indor-sed it.

In the mean time people are wondering here whether Mr. Baine will not take an early opportunity to say to the President: "Mr. President, as you have taken the appointment of this commission into your own hands in such an extraordinary and arbitrary way you had better assume the entire management of our relations with Hayti and of all the affairs of the State Department." omebody else. The general state of Shat-g-tut-g is such that all the benevolent elections of the Governor Chang and Thoots shenk have but touched the outside of the misery. The 200,000 tacks already distributed have gone a very little way among such milions of starving human beings. Foreigners, forgetting the political or geographical demarcations that divide men from men, have contributed most generally to help these people. Regarding the sale of women and children, it is a matter of as much notoriety as the solling of miles and doukeys, except that they are not brought to market. Since the very coid weather cassed over, the number of deaths from starvation has decreased, but not so the sale of women and children. WARDEN DURSTON, OF AUBURN, TALKS LITTLE ALBERT ROBINSON'S SKULL FRAC-ABOUT THE ELECTRIC EXECUTION.

The Condemned Murderer Is Silent Abou Itin Approaching Death-Confined in a Steel-Lined Cell in Accordance with the Law-The Day of the Execution Still Kept a Close Secret from the Public.

Agent and Warden Charles F. Durston, of Auburn Prison, the man who is charged with the duty of conducting the first execution of a condemned murderer by electricity, was in the city this merning on his way home from a business trip to Philadelphia.

He was met in Park Row by an Evening WORLD reporter and interviewed with referonce to the coming execution of Kemmler, who so brutally butchered his paramour, Emma Ziegler, in Buffalo, last March.

Warden Durston hasn't the appearance of a man who would delight in the taking of a life, even as a matter of duty, and it is more than probable that he will delegate the manipulation of the switch which will turn the deadly alternating electric current through Murderer's Kemmler's body to one less soft-hearted.

Warden Durston is a large, mild-mannered man, whose pleasant face is adorned with a grav-tinged blond mustache.
He is a pleasant conversationalist, from whom one finds it hard to tear himself; but he evinced little desire to talk on the subject of Kemmler, which was nearest the repor-torial heart.

torial heart.

"How does Kemmler view the prospect of his early execution by the novel agency of electricity?" he was asked.

"Oh!" replied the Warden, "he is very quiet and reserved and has absolutely nothing to say on the subject. He is in solitary confinement, as required by the statute, and will remain in his steel-lined cell until the day of execution."

Which day of the week beginning June 24 Kemmler will be placed on the fatal chair Warden Durston refused to indicate.

"Will Clarence Tiearr have anything to do with the preparation of the death-dealing apparatus?" the Warden was next asked.

Tiearr is a little horse-thief—a chronic criminal—confined in the Auburn Prison. He is one of the smartest men ever confined within the walls—a positive gening at inven-

It has been popularly supposed that Tiearr's genius would be called in to assist in the construction of the apparatus for the execution of condemned criminals in Auburn Prison, hence the question propounded to Warden Durston.

He replied that while Tiearr just ached to have a hand in the making of the machine which will launch Kemmler into eternity, it was thought best to leave the matter to the experts who have conducted the tests.

It appears that several boys were playing on a hill on One Hundred and Tenth street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues yesterday afternoon. Among them were Albert Robinson, a boy seven years old and Frank Smith, a youngster of ten years. Robinson was standing looking at some nen building a sewer in the neighborhood when, as some allege, Smith came behind son down the hill?"

The boy was as cool as a cucumber as he answered: 'No, sir: I wasn't within six feet of him when he fell down."

"Fell down?" echoed the Judge.

"Yes, sir. We were all looking at some men building a sewer, when a wild horse, that we had been teasing a little while before, made a rush for us, and Robinson got frightened and fell down. I didn't push him at all." There were no witnesses present to prove the boy's statement, and the Judge was com-pelled to lock him up to await the result of Robinson's injuries. The latter was on a fair way to recovery then an Evening World reporter called at the hospital this morning.

House Surgeon Moore declined to express any opinion as to the result of the injury.

The fracture is on the forehead just above the left eye. The bone was pressing on the brain and the physicians decided to remove brain and the physicians declared to relative it by trephining.

This was done and if Albert recovers, which he seems likely to do, he will live for the rest of his life minus a square inch of his skull, He will always be in danger, for should any sharp instrument happen to penetrate the wound it will kill him.

It is said that there was no quarrel between the boys. Both live in the same house on One Hundred and Niuth street, between Tenth avenue and the Boulevard.

The investigation will begin next Tuesday.

'I don't take any stock in the story about the attempt to escape," said Freeholder John A. Totten to an Evesning Wond, preporter to-day.

'The time of three of the prisoners in whose cells the tools were found expires in a day or two. The terms of the other two expire in about a month. It is not likely that they would try to escape.

The Freeholders did not intend to have an investigation when they were there Tresday, but the keepers complained, while the Warden was not present, that they had not been treated fairly and that their food was poor.

The fact is that the food the keepers have had to cat has been poor, and I don't blame them for kicking."

Shot His Friend to Death

Peter Schneider, aged sixty years, residing at No. 142 Maujer street, Brooklyn, was shot and killed last night by Bernard Reiger, residing in the adjoining house. Reiger is a member of the Germania Schützenbund and at the time was in uniform and was about to attend a meeting of the organization. On reaching the sidewalk with his gan resting on his shoulder he encountered Schneider, Jacob Grub and Peter Spatz. Schneider said playfully: "Look out, he is going to shoot." Reiger then pointed the rife at the to shoot. Reiger then pointed the rife at the men and, pulling the trigger, discharged its contents into Schneider's groin, killing him almost instantly. Reiger was arrested. He declares that the shooting was purely accidental, as he was not aware the rifle was loaded. Schneider and the men standing with him were among his best friends.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the ergicol. John 1. Camp, the Twenty-seconds popular commander, will be at the head of his regiment.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies, the ergiment will dine at Mount St. Vincent Hotel.

The new armory is to occupy the block between Sixty-seventh and Sixty-eighth streets, Ninth avenue and the Boulevard, and the land alone cost the city $205,000.

The area of the building will be 225 feet on the Boulevard and 200 feet on the Ninth avenue side. On the Sixty-seventh street side the length is 327 feet, and on the Sixty-eighth street side, 224 feet.

The building is to be of brick, with rock face trimmings. The Sixty-seventh and Sixty-eighth street side, 244 feet.

The building is to be of brick, with rock face trimmings. The Sixty-seventh and Sixty-eighth street elevations will be broken by buttresses, and one of the features of the Ninth avenue elevation will be a panel bearing the number of the regiment and the dates of its organization and of the erection of the armory. On the Sixty-seventh and Sixty-eighth street corners at Ninth avenue will be strong towers flanking the streets and the avenue.

The armory will have a fine drill-room 17.5 feet by 235 and the largest rifle range in the city, 24 feet by 300.

Above the drill-room will be the ten company parlors, each 25 feet square, and having in its front a private gallery accommodations for storing quartermasters' supplies, and on the sally port and westerly sides are galleries tor visitors.

W. Dawson in March last. He has been confined in the county jail since the commission of the crime, and no effort has been made to obtain his release on bail. New interest has been excited in the case by the drawing of the jury which will try the case. The panel consists of thirty-six men, of whom fourteen are negroes, the largest number of negroes drawn to serve on a jury at any recent court. Some atrong comments have been made upon the complexion of the jury. McDow's friends are confident that he will be acquitted.

Backed Her Demand with a Revolver. [SPECIAL TO THE WOBLD.]

FORT DODGE, May 30. - Mrs. Herman Bruns cher, wife of a carpenter, who, she claims, has deserted her, recently entered the office of W. deserted her, recently entered the office of W.

H. H. Coloy, a well-known horse dealer, and demanded $3,000 as the point of a revolver. The basis of her demand was that Colby had ruined her reputation and caused her husband to desert her. He rid himself of her with some difficulty. Subsequently C. O. Loughin and other business men met with a like demand. She visited the families of her would-by victims with a herrowing tale of shame. The matter is being investigated by the police. The woman is thought to be crazy.

CLIFTON'S FIRE-BUG SCARE.

TWO SUSPICIOUS BLAZES IN THE TOWN WITHIN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS.

Two fires within forty-eight hours have convinced the good people of Clifton, N. J., that fire-bugs are at work in their quiet little village. A barn rented by Olney Brothers, the race-horse owners, was burned Tuesday night at a loss of $2,000. That, it is alleged, was in-cendiary fire No. 1. About 2 o'clock this morning the grocery store

About 2 o clock this morning the grocery store of Postmaster James Brick on Main street, about one hundred feet from where the other fire occurred, was found to be on fire.

The flames started inside the building, which was a one-story frame structure, and spread to the new building occupied by Eiser & Mackey, printers, whick adjoined.

Both houses werg entirely consumed with their contents.

A large amount of mail matter was also destroyed, as the post-office was in Mr. Brick's grocery store. stroyed, as the post-office was in Mr. Brick's grocery store.

The loss is estimated at $1,500, and is fully covered by insurance.

The store would have surely caught fire on Tuesday night from the burning building had not the wind changed to another direction.

Postmaster Brick has the sympathy of his fellow-citizens because of his mistortune more especially as it is said he had not been doing well in business of late. He is a young man, and was married six months ago.

He is an ardent admirer of good horseflesh, and often went to see if any could be found on the Clifton race-track.

Death of Harmanus M: Welch. ISPECIAL TO THE WORLD.1

NEW HAVEN, May 30.—Harmanus M. Welch,

New Haven's City Treasurer, died suddenly at an early hour yesterday from congestion the lungs at the age of seventy-six. He was President of the First National Bank and has been City and Town Tresaurer for a quarter of a century. He was Mayor of the city from 1860 to 1863. He died worth at least a million. He was the father-in-law of Edwin S. Wheeler, the iron merchant, whose three-million-dollar failurs so shook New Haven tinancial circles two years ago. Mr. Welch was on Mr. Wheeler's notes for over $100,000, and lost all. The city charter makes no provision for the election of Mr. Welch's successor, and Mayor Peck is in a quandary. The only way out of the difficulty is a special city election. This will be held some time next week, but the city will be without a Tressurer in the mean time. The Selectmen tonight elected John A. Richardson, cashier of the Yale National Bank, Town Tressurer. the lungs at the age of seventy-six. He was Presi-
